

Amendments to the Abstract

Abstract of the Disclosure

A centrifuge has a rotor for receiving a sample to be centrifuged. The rotor is detachably mounted on a rotary shaft that is connected to a drive. A transponder is associated with the rotor, and an antenna connected to a writing/reading unit is associated with the transponder on a static element.